Newton Regis Garden Centre raises £1090 for St Giles Hospice and Cancer Research

Newton Regis Garden Centre, which is part of the UK's largest family-run group, British Garden Centres, recently announced a successful fundraising initiative which raised a total of £1090, which was split between two charities, St Giles Hospice and Cancer Research.

The funds were raised through the sale of handmade grave decorations, which demonstrated the Newton Regis Garden Centre community's commitment to supporting vital causes.

Two representatives from St Giles Hospice, Alison, and Catherine, joined the Newton Regis Garden Centre manager, Stacy Green, to express their gratitude for the generous donation. Alison, the fundraiser from St Giles Hospice, emphasised the impact of such contributions on the organisation's ability to provide essential care and support to those in need.

The fundraising effort was led by Andy Wright, a dedicated member of the Newton Regis Garden Centre team. Despite his shyness, Andy's dedication shone through as he crafted the beautiful grave decorations that garnered widespread support from customers and raised a substantial amount for both charities.

"We are immensely proud of the collective effort put forth by our team and the community to support St Giles Hospice and Cancer Research," said Stacy Green, Manager at Newton Regis Garden Centre. "It's inspiring to witness the generosity of our customers and the passion of our team members like Andy, whose contributions make a real difference in the lives of others."

The cheque presentation was held at Newton Regis Garden Centre, where Alison and Catherine expressed their appreciation to the community for their ongoing support. They highlighted the significance of the local partnership with Newton Regis Garden Centre in advancing the mission of their respective charities.
