Get the look for your lifestyle with British Garden Centres

There is no single way to use a garden. For some, it is a place to cook, catch up and stay up late. For others, it is somewhere to relax and unwind. And for families, it is the best room in the house, just without a roof.

This season, British Garden Centres is shining a light on seven different styles of garden furniture, each one designed with a particular kind of outdoor life in mind. From sociable fire pit evenings to lazy afternoons on a sunbed, or a coffee on the balcony, British Garden Centres has garden furniture to match the way you actually spend time outdoors.

Take our quiz and find out which lifestyle furniture set suits you!

The Entertainer Collection

Everley Deluxe Lounge Dining Set with Gas Firepit Table: £2,299.99

Built around a gas firepit table, the Everley Deluxe set is designed for people who want to still be outside when the sun has set. Warm-toned rattan, a ceramic tabletop and high wingback chairs give it the look that makes guests feel genuinely looked after. It seats up to seven, and both the cushions and weave are UV and shower-resistant, which is ideal when you live in Britain with its temperamental climate. The firepit covers over during the day to create a clean dining surface, and the gas bottle is neatly tucked away in a concealed cupboard underneath, perfect for those social gatherings on summer evenings.

The Sunseeker Collection

Piacenza Milano Sunbed: £699

The Piacenza sunbed is for people who take their outdoor downtime seriously. Its curved, contemporary profile and all-weather rope weave give it a luxurious feel, while the cushions are thick enough to sink into whilst lazing in the sun with a cocktail and a good book. It arrives fully assembled, has built-in wheels for easy repositioning, and comes with a five-year limited warranty.

The Family Collection

Decala Corner Set: £1,699.99

27th April 2026

The Decala Corner Set has the relaxed, natural look of wood, without any of the sanding, oiling or worrying. Its aluminium frame is finished in a realistic light oak effect, paired with modern rope weave armrests and matching slatted tabletops. The set includes a corner sofa, a large table and an extra bench, so there is space for everyone to sit down at the same time. It is the sort of set that earns its place as the backdrop to summers worth remembering.

The Cosy Collection

Leighton Daybed: £1,199.99

The Leighton Daybed is a straightforward argument for spending more time outside doing nothing in particular. It is built from thick, chunky rattan weave over a rust-free aluminium frame, with an ottoman and cushions that are genuinely soft, and create an inviting nook on a hazy summer afternoon. It works equally well for an afternoon nap, reading until the sun sets, or just sitting outside getting some Vitamin D. A contemporary take on a classic shape, and one of those pieces of furniture you will be glad you bought and hard to escape from.

The Minimalist Collection

Tealby Four Seat Dining Set: £1,199.99

The Tealby Four Seat Dining Set is for gardens where modern and contemporary styles meet. Clean lines, no fuss, and effortlessly sleek. The chairs are upholstered in high-performance outdoor fabric, which makes them comfortable and practical, whilst the table has a stone-effect HPL top that wipes down easily and handles the weather without complaint. The whole set is 100% weatherproof, which means it can stay outside without looking worse for it. If you want garden furniture that sits quietly in the background and looks stylish, this is it.

The City Style

Limeni Mosaic 4 Seat Dining Set: £499.99

Urban outdoor spaces come with their own set of challenges, including limited room, limited storage, and the need for something that looks straight out of a city cafe. The Limeni Mosaic 4 Seat Dining Set is a practical answer to all three. The 90cm square table fits neatly into a courtyard, roof terrace or patio without dominating it, and the four stacking chairs mean storage is straightforward when you need the space back. The powder-coated steel frame is built to handle the weather, and the mosaic tile detailing on the table and chairs gives it a warm, Mediterranean character that stands out from the usual run of metal garden sets. It is compact, it is solid, and it looks considerably more expensive than it is, making it ideal for a city dweller.

Darren Craven, Outdoor Living Buyer at British Garden Centres, said, “People use their gardens in completely different ways, and we think their furniture should reflect that. Our collection is about giving customers something that genuinely fits their lifestyle, not just their garden dimensions. Whether you have a flat balcony or family garden, our range is suited to you and will bring the indoors out so you can enjoy the summer.”
